

A Community #ForAllAges

July 2018

Age-Friendly Sarasota Action Plan Progress Report Released

Remember school days... each quarter, teachers would pass out progress reports showcasing our talents and areas which needed improvement. Similar to a student's accountability in the school system, progress reports play an essential role in evaluating age-friendly communities for thoughtful engagement, planning, and collaboration, to excel at the local community level.

While expertly compiled and drafted by gerontologist extraordinaire Kathy Black, PhD., the Age-Friendly Sarasota Action Plan and Progress Report are community-owned efforts and documents worthy of our time and attention.

Sarasota County became Florida's first community to join this global age-friendly movement in 2015. Besides having a unique geographic beauty, for people ages 1–100+, Sarasota County also has a unique demographic beauty -- a rare population mix that is one-third under 35 and one-third over 65. Our county's age-related symmetry can be a great asset as each of us has a valuable perspective to contribute to creating a community #ForAllAges. Share your thoughts and provide input into the AFS Action Plan and Progress Report.

The people of Sarasota have been a significant part of Age-Friendly Sarasota from the initial survey and focus groups to the participation of thousands in the first Age-Friendly Festival in United States history. Together, let's celebrate another milestone in this journey -- the goals, objectives, and strategies achieved across the broad domains of our local infrastructures, resources, and social environments which influence health and quality of life -- the Progress Report!

It connects to the Legacy Trail at the Historic Venice Train Depot, creating almost 23 miles of uninterrupted trails. There are many other outstanding opportunities for a stroll in the park on a paved surface. Examples include Nathan Benderson Park, Arlington Park, Rothenbach Park, Shamrock Park, and Urfer Family Park. You can also now walk your dog at 70 of our designated "dog-friendly" parks.

There are many other fun and interesting things to do within Sarasota County parks, including working out on outdoor fitness equipment, signing up for a plot at one of our community gardens, or participating in an athletic league or recreational activity such as softball, dance or yoga. Not only will the physical movement associated with the activity keep you healthy and active, the great folks you will meet in our parks are friendly, engaged, and care about the environment.

At the beginning of last year, the Herald-Tribune reported that Sarasota ranked one of the top 10 most dangerous places for pedestrians. That was alarming news, but plans to make Sarasota safer and more accessible for pedestrians using multiple modes of transportation were already underway. To promote safe mobility for pedestrians, bicyclists, transit riders, and non-motorized vehicles for people of varying ages and abilities, financial means and circumstances, Sarasota County came up with several solutions.

- In 2017, Sarasota County Transportation Planning created a multi-mobility app for quick access to transit lines, transit stops, bike lanes, and sidewalks within a half-mile radius.
- Sarasota County Public Works replaced 36,000 sq. feet of sidewalks and graded 76,000 (14 miles) of unpaved roadway, and
- Sarasota-Manatee Metropolitan Organization identified the top ten locations of pedestrian injury/fatalities with planned safety audits of sites.
